The Islamic New Year (Arabic: Raʿs as-Sanah al-Hijrīyah), also called the Hijri New Year or Arabic New Year, is the day that marks the Hijra (or Hegira) in 622 CE when the Prophet Muhammad moved from Mecca to Medina, and set up the first Islamic community. From that day, the Islamic calendar has been used to calculate the date of Islamic holidays and the proper time for the Hajj. The Islamic calendar is based on the age of the moon as seen from Mecca. It is essentially a solar calendar in that the Hijri year is tied to the solar cycle.
